February 9th CSI Meeting - Best Practices in Risk Mitigation in Design and Construction - A Case Study

Scott Schmidt, CIC

Stuckey Insurance

Scott Schmidt has been an insurance broker in Arizona serving the needs of professionals since 2003, focusing on educational programs, risk assessment, claims advocacy and contractual compliance for design professional clients for his firm.

Mr. Schmidt currently serves on the ACEC of Arizona Business Practices Committee, the Arizona Component of the AIA Membership and Government Affairs Committees, and is the former Chair of the Education Committee of the Professional Liability Agents Network (PLAN), an international association of insurance agents who provide risk management services for design professionals. He earned his Certified Insurance Counselor (CIC) designation in 2004.

About the Presentation:

A discussion of non-technical mistakes construction professionals can make that can lead to failed projects, lawsuits and claims and what can be done to avoid them.

Learning Objectives:

- Improve understanding of client/project selection process.
- Improve understanding of importance of project team selection on a project.
- Improve understanding of the risks of limited services on a project.
- Improve understanding of key contractual elements in design and construction projects.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

“Determine what you want and why you want it. Once you understand what’s important, you can utilize your passions and achieve anything.”

~Brooke Griffin

Happy 2017!

First, I would like to thank everyone that took the time out of their busy schedule to attend the CSI holiday party at the Stockyard Restaurant. The turnout was great, the food was amazing and the giving for the Umom family came in at over $300.00, not to mention all the generous gifts that were donated to each family member, again thank you all for making a better holiday for those in need.

Now that we are moving into the downhill stretch of the CSI fiscal year. We have some excellent programs coming up, such as:

January 12, 2017 | An Introduction to Tall Wood Buildings | Joe McElvaney

February 9, 2017 | Risk / Liability / Best Practices | Scott Schmidt

March 9, 2017 | Advanced Fenestration Efficiency | Colin Blackford

April 13, 2017 | Best Value Practices / performance metrics | Dr. Dean Kashiwagi ASU

May 11, 2017 | Social Media (Kathie) or AZ Builders Exchange | To be filled

Upcoming events to watch for and “save the date”.

Future City Competition - Arizona Region

The Arizona Future City Competition is part of the national Future City Competition, sponsored by DiscoverE. We are a 501(c) 3 organization, supported by corporate and other donations and staffed solely by volunteers. The competition encourages middle school students from grades 6-8 in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) by presenting a set of technical challenges over a four-month season that each three-student team must address, culminating at regional finals in January.

RECOMMENDED LEVELS OF FINISH FOR GYPSUM WALLBOARD

Submitted by Jim Nisted, Dryvit Systems, Inc. for publication by CSI 1/26/2017
Originally published on Technical Services Information Bureau in February, 2011.

Recommended Levels of Finish for Gypsum Wallboard

The intent of this document is to provide clarification and assist architects, designers, specifiers, and interior contractors in understanding the different levels of interior finish for gypsum wallboard prior to final decoration, where these levels of finish should be used, and what their limitations are. The levels of finish can range from "0" (no treatment) to "5" (multiple coats). Generally the higher the level (number), the better the concealment is. The architect/designer typically specifies the level(s) of finish for the project that may include different levels on the same project.

Additional reference standard for the finishing of gypsum wallboard can be found in the GA-214 (Gypsum Association). For judging the final decoration of a gypsum wallboard surface, please refer to TSIB Technical Bulletin 30.101

Because there are a number of primers, sealers, paints, methods of applications, job site conditions, adhesive tapes, etc., it is recommended that a mock-up panel (or room) be constructed, evaluated and accepted by all responsible parties for aesthetic appearance and durability before any production decorating is started (responsibility of the architect & general contractor). The mock-up should remain intact until the project is completed.
